Re: In re Adam R. Grossman, No. 10-19817-MLB

Dear Mr. Grossman:

The Court received your "Statement in Objection to Proposed Order on Claims: Jill Borodin" and "Statement in Objection to Proposed Order on Claims TSAI Law Company" (the "Statements"). The Statements have been placed on the docket for the above-referenced case. See Docket Nos. 415 and 416.

Please be advised that neither of your Statements constitutes a proper motion, complaint, or claim objection, and/or the Statements were not filed and served in accordance with applicable federal and local rules of bankruptcy procedure. Thus, Judge Barreca has not considered the merits of your Statements. To the extent either of your Statements are intended to be responsive to matters currently pending before the Court, you must clearly identify the matter(s) to which they are responsive. The Court will take no further action regarding your Statements unless and until they are properly before the Court.

To bring a motion or adversary proceeding before the Court you must proceed in accordance with the Bankruptcy Code and applicable federal and local rules of bankruptcy procedure. Further information and Judge Barreca's available calendar dates are available on the Court's website, www.wawb.uscourts.gov.

Bankruptcy Rule 9003 and the Code of Judicial Conduct prohibit the Court from having ex-parte contact with a party concerning matters that may come before it. Thus, if you wish to pursue a matter in this case, you should be aware that the Court cannot render legal advice or substantive instructions on how to proceed. Any questions you have should be directed to an attorney. You may be able to speak with an attorney for free by contacting the Debt Clinic, administered through the King County Bar Association, at (206) 267-7070, between the hours of
